

CHT COOPERATIVE HOUSING

Most of us understand renting or owning; cooperative housing is a third option. A housing cooperative is a member-owned business that manages the housing, and co-op members are both residents of the co-op and shareholders (owners) in the business. While co-ops aren't for everyone, they're ideal for people who want to be involved with their neighbors in creating a community.

Financially, joining a co-op is like renting: members do not buy any real estate. However, unlike regular rental properties, co-op members share the responsibilities that a homeowner or landlord typically handles – they manage their budget, set policies, oversee repairs and solve problems. Depending on the roles they take on, members typically spend 4 to 10 hours a month on co-op duties. This level of security, control, and responsibility amounts to an ownership mindset without the financial investment of buying a home.

We have six co-ops in the Burlington area with a total of 121 apartments. The co-ops range in size: the smallest, House of Hildegard, has just three apartments, while the Bright Street co-op has forty – each with its own character. We see an average of six to eight vacancies a year among all of our co-ops, and since openings are hard to predict, people who need housing within a few months should also look for rentals. To find out more about our co-ops, please go to www.getahome.org/coops.

STEPS TO CO-OP HOUSING MEMBERSHIP

1. Submit a Rental Application and Co-op Addendum.

This allows us to add you to the waitlists of the co-ops that interest you. We do not process the application until there is a vacancy you might qualify for. At that time, we ask if you are still interested and allow you to update any information on your application.

2. CHT processes your application & schedules a co-op orientation. Our office checks your:

- A. Credit History
- B. Housing References
- C. Income
- D. Criminal Background
- E. Character References

During this time, we will contact you to schedule a co-op orientation. We forward the relevant results to the co-op's interview team. (We do not send financial specifics or SSNs.) The team then decides if they want to invite the applicant in for an interview.

3. Interview with the co-op. If your application meets the basic membership criteria (see page 2), someone from the Member Selection committee will contact you to set up an interview with all the adults in your household.

4. Recommendation & Board Decision. After interviews, the committee recommends approval or denial to the co-op's Board of Directors. The Board makes the final decision to approve or deny an application.

The unit is filled based on the initial application date of all approved applicants. Approved applicants who do not get the unit are kept on the waiting list until another unit opens up. Applicants will not need to go through the interview and orientation process again.

 Denied applicants receive a letter stating the reasons for denial. You can appeal if you feel the decision was unfair or incorrect.*

5. Signing Papers & Share Purchase

If you are offered the unit and accept membership in that co-op, the property manager from Champlain Housing Trust will schedule your move-in and set a time for you to purchase your share and sign all relevant documents.

6. Move in. Yeah!

7. Join a committee and start your intentional-community living experience!

CO-OP MEMBER SELECTION CRITERIA

- Low/Moderate Income: Applicants must have a combined gross income at or below the income limit for the unit that's coming vacant.
- Stability of Income: A stable source of income. Stability can be shown in various ways.
- Household Size: The household size must match the capacity of the available unit, based on HUD guidelines. Co-ops can set minimum household sizes for bigger units.

No applicant will be given a unit that would result in overcrowding without Board approval. Each co-op decides whether to set minimum household sizes.
- Affordability: Enough income for the available unit to be affordable to the household.

The definition of "affordable" is that the household's shelter costs don't exceed 50% of its gross income. If they can show a long-term history of paying a higher percent of income for their shelter costs, the co-ops may consider that evidence.
- Credit History: Applicants should show financial responsibility, including paying installment debts (e.g. credit cards) timely. If an applicant had past trouble meeting its obligations, they should show a history of meeting reasonable repayment terms.
- Rent Payment History: A history of paying rent or mortgage in full and on time.
- Share Cost: Enough money to pay for the share at move-in.
- Property Damage and Disturbances: No history of disturbing the neighbors, destruction of property, or living or housekeeping habits that might adversely affect the safety, health, or welfare of residents, or result in unusual maintenance services.
- Criminal History: Applicants must describe any convictions. A history of one or more for activities against people (violence, etc.) or property (theft, destruction, fraud), or for any drug-related activity may be taken as evidence of the applicant's inability to participate successfully in a community setting, depending on time of conviction and how they have lived since then. Failure to report convictions of any member of the household will be grounds for rejection of the application.
- Ability to Comply with Terms of Lease: Applicants must be able to fully comply with all terms of the Proprietary Lease and participate in the life of the co-op, either independently or with assistance.
- Cooperative Spirit: Applicants must show a reasonable ability and willingness to cooperatively work with other residents and participate in group decision-making.
- Understanding of the Cooperative Model: Applicants must make a reasonable effort to understand the unique characteristics of cooperative housing.
- Participation in Management: Applicants must show a willingness to spend a limited amount of time every month to participate in the co-op's operations, management, maintenance and/or governance.
- Non-discrimination: Applicants must agree that they and their households will not discriminate against other residents or applicants on the basis of any protected category, including race, sex, age, marital status, religious or political affiliation, color, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, veteran status, presence of physical or mental impairment, having minor children, or receiving public assistance.
- Bright Street does not allow households where all adults are full-time students.
